SPRINGBOARD TO A DCS

FIRST NATIONS

Are you a First Nations student and do not really know in which program you should register? Maybe you do not feel well prepared for college studies, you are worried about your academic success or cannot gain immediate access to a chosen program because of one of the following reasons:

- » Your request for admission was refused.
- » The program is closed.
- » You are missing some secondary school (high school) level prerequisites.
- » You are not ready to register right away for any reason whatsoever.
- » You are missing a maximum of 10 credits to complete your Secondary School Diploma (SSD/HSD).

If your answer was positive concerning any of these points, then the First Nations DCS Springboard* is right for you!

HOW DOES THIS PROGRAM FUNCTION?

You may register for the First Nations DCS Springboard for a maximum of two semesters. Courses are chosen according to your path and needs.

After the first year of college studies, you will have the opportunity to pursue your pathway according to the project that you will have determined. You must necessarily present an Application for Admission in a program of studies if you wish to pursue them at the college level.

THE OBAKWADAN PROJECT: A PROVINCIAL EXCLUSIVE!

Secondary-school level courses that will allow you to complete your diploma are offered in partnership with the Kitci Amik First Nations Adult Education Centre.

Any student who has an academic file that presents 10 missing units or less is eligible. You have two semesters to finish your SSD or HSD as you begin your college studies. We're waiting for you!
